

Story Of 1956

June Full
Of Major
News Events

EDITOR'S NOTE—Today's story is the sixth in a series of 12 articles to be written by Leonard Randolph. Each story will deal with one month of 1956. The articles will appear from time to time for the balance of the year.

By Leonard Randolph

IN THE story of 1956, June seems destined to go down as the month in which many things happened.

So many things occurred, as a matter of fact, that nearly two dozen news stories were co-equal in importance. It was a varied 30 days: the borough bought the water company, set up a parking authority; Ranson employees picked those company plants; the county had to float a loan. And, oh yes, a cannibalistic squirrel mistook a postman for a mid-afternoon snack.

Stroudsburg Council made most of the big news during the month. On the first day, Council said that it had acquired Monroe Water Supply Co. Had to float a $760,000 bond issue to do it. The actual purchase price was only $563,560. The rest of it went for what the bonding house boys call "working capital and financing the transfer." Borough purchase ended private control of the firm dating back to 1876.

A few days later Council voted to advertise for bids on a three-wheeled motor scooter. Said they intended to pass it along to the boys who attend to all those parking meters because they could cover so much more territory. They kept right on thinking about parking, too, along with most of the rest of us who are unfortunate to own gas-suckers. On the 6th Council set up its parking authority — a five-man group — over the objections of Burgess Harris who said it would be "impossible to finance the authority."

Problem

Stroudsburg merchants said parking was a big problem and it couldn't be ignored. There had to be some system of off-street parking pretty soon or customers would start using helicopters. One man told us finding a parking place was such a dilemma that even the clerks couldn't park. If you couldn't get clerks into the store how could you hope to have satisfied customers? Even if the customers could find a place to put the ol' Austin. It sounded to us as though someone was out to eliminate the middleman.

Chamber of Commerce officials praised Stroudsburg Council for setting up the new authority; pledged their active support in "every effort to bring the authority into prompt operation." The Chamber also came out in favor of the "Keystone Shortway" between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

Elsewhere in this parts: J. L. (Murphy) Cohen was named to head the local Red Cross disaster committee. The Mount Pocono Airport Authority got definite news that it was going to receive $75,000 allocation from the State. Superior Court Judge Chester H. Rhodes, delivering a commencement address, told Dickinson Law College men that impairment of the process of justice could do more to break down the American way of life than any other single element. Gov. Leader signed a bill introduced and followed through by Rep. Van D. Yetter which set aside $150,000 for promotion of Pennsylvania (and that meant the Poconos, too) as a resort-vacation Utopia.

County Commissioners made a lot of news. They floated a $37,500 loan to meet district expenses until taxes started coming in. Chairman John Lesoiné said that short term loans were necessary because the new board had found the county didn't have any money when it took over. Commissioners finally got a helping hand when a State check for $44,559.77 came through. But the money was earmarked for county highways because it came from the liquid fuels tax fund in the State. The county board later took a look at district needs for the coming year and approved a plus-$300,000 budget; raised taxes to 10 mills for general budget and 4 mills for institution needs. When was the month, too, when commissioners first announced that they felt the railroad overpass near Anahomink might be advantageously moved somewhere else. A lot of people didn't like that idea and said so a few weeks later.

Stroud Union School Board broke ground for its new grade school at Arlington Heights. They said they hoped the school would be finished by the first of 1957 — barring weather and/or bad luck. Both the school district and the borough agreed that Stroudsburg should annex a 25-acre tract of land in Stroud Township which had just been acquired by Monroe County Land and Building Co. Stroud Township supervisors didn't quite go along with that.

Thomas Knepp's booklet on "The Poconos" came out. It was a guidebook on "how to get here" and what to do or see after you made it. Dr. Charles Rushmore was elected president of Monroe County Heart Committee, succeeding Dr. Harold Pond. The circus (King Bros.) came to town for two shows at Day St. Seemed like a novelty, then. Few weeks later, though, we had part of one parked in our own backyard. An Associated Press dispatch

William Weber Found Dead In Car

WILLIAM A. WEBER JR., 30, of 809 Scott St., one of Stroudsburg's best-known early businessmen, was found dead yesterday in his car in the basement of the building which once housed the Marsh and Weber Bakery which he co-founded.

Coroner Charles H. Rushmore ruled that the death was a suicide. A piece of rubber garden hose had been inserted in the exhaust pipe of the car. The hose extended through the rear window. Cloth had been used to close off air around the end of the hose reaching into the car. All the other windows had been closed.

Dr. Rushmore said that the body was found at about 2:45 p. m. by William Widdoss, an employee in the Hartman Mill upstairs who had come down into the basement. Widdoss told police that he saw Weber slumped over in the front seat of the car and then ran back upstairs to tell others.

Weber owned the building in which the mill is located and in which he parked his car. Employees of the mill summoned Mrs. Emma Hartman, Mrs. Hartman told police chief James McConnell that when she arrived on the scene she looked inside the car, then threw the garage doors open.

Mr. Weber's wife, Lila, told authorities that he had not been despondent recently and that he had seemed to be in good spirits. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home, Rev. P. N. Wohlsen will officiate. Interment will be made in Laurelwood Cemetery. Friends may call Friday after 7 p. m. at the funeral home.

Mr. Weber is survived by his wife, Lila; two sons, Walter A. of Stroudsburg and Kenneth E. of Stroudsburg RD 3; a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Hazen, Scranton; seven brothers, Benjamin, Russell, Henry, Philip and Louis, all of Scranton; Fred of Stroudsburg and Otto of Queens, N. Y.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and the Brotherhood and Crusader's Bible Class of that church; the BPOE 319, East Stroudsburg; Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club; and the Woodmen of America.

He was a director of the Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. He came to Stroudsburg in 1913 with his family from Scranton. Mr. Weber worked for some time as a foreman in the old Kohl Bakery Shop.

In 1921 he formed the Marsh and Weber bakery in East Stroudsburg with the late Benjamin Marsh as his partner. In 1924 they built the present building which stands on the corner of Eighth and Scott Sts. in Stroudsburg. Mr. Weber retired in 1946.

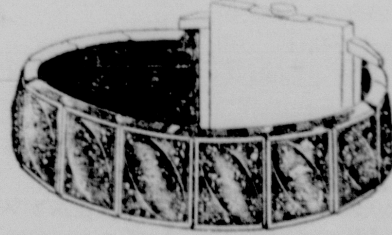

Long, Hard Road

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Dec. 19 (AP)—The road from Israel to Bethlehem may be a hard one for Israel's Arab Christians this Christmas. Bethlehem lies in Jordan and Jordan already has rejected 41 entry applications without explanation, say Israeli officials. Hundreds of Arab Christians want to make the traditional journey.

Navy Promotes Kane To Full Commander Rank At Newport

NAVY DEPARTMENT recently announced the promotion of Lieutenant Commander John P. Kane to Commander U. S. Navy.

He was graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in the spring of 1941. His first commissioned service was on the USS Wichita (CA 45), a Pacific Fleet Cruiser. For four years during World War II he served on this same ship from Junior officer to Gunner officer.

In June 1948 he was ordered to duty as gunnery and later operations officer of the USS Beatty (DD 556) an Atlantic Fleet Destroyer. He was detached in 1950 and assigned to the Staff of Commander Destroyer Squadron Eight. During this period he circled the globe and joined Task Force 77 off the east coast of Korea.

In August 1951 he was ordered to the NROTC unit at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., as an instructor in Naval Weapons. In 1953 he was ordered to duty as Executive Officer of the USS Hyman (DD 732). His present assignment is Ordnance officer on the staff of Commander Destroyer Force U. S. Atlantic Fleet at Newport, R. I., USS Yosemite (AD 191) Flagship.

Commander Kane is married to the former Mary Louise Altomose, 818 Scott St., Stroudsburg, and they, with their three children, are making their home in Newport.

Two Prisoners Freed For Christmas

TWO INMATES of the Monroe County Jail yesterday were granted Christmas moratoriums in Monroe County Court.

President Judge Fred W. W. Davis granted the moratoriums to Bruce D. Hoover, Stroudsburg, serving a three-to-six month term for driving while his license was suspended, and to Robert Sebring, Tamersville, sentenced earlier this month on an assault and battery charge.

Instructions Judge Davis released Sebring until Jan. 7, with the proviso that he get a job and refrain from drinking alcoholic beverages. The jurist said he would make final disposition of the case at the end of that period.

The judge also told Hoover to make arrangements to pay his fine and costs within a week, or face the prospect of going back to jail.

Immigration Increase

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (AP)—Authorities expect immigration to reach 160,000 in Canada this year because of a sharp increase in arrivals from Britain and the flow of Hungarian refugees. Total immigration was 109,945 last year.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

Only a bulk laxative can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to recreate a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the new laxative discovery relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

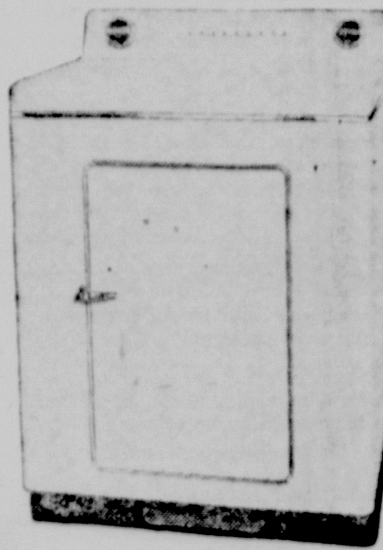

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

State's System Of Fitting Punishment To Violation Seems To Be Working Well

Last February, we hailed, with crossed fingers, the State Department of Revenue's bold experiment putting into effect a new driver's license suspension system.

Purpose of the change was two-fold: to reduce the number of deaths and injuries on our roads, and to cut out special privileges for influential offenders.

The passage of each month has seen the rate of increase, state-wide, drop lower as compared with the cumulative figures for 1955.

Since February, there have been 5.2 per cent more persons killed on Pennsylvania roads. The national figure for the same period is nearly 10 per cent.

On the safety score, then, the program seems to be working.

How about special privileges? A state spokesman reports "political influence is now out completely."

And the figures seem to back him up. The "toughest and fairest" program in the country, as Gov. George M. Leader has called it, has dropped court appeals of suspensions from 200 a month to 20.

Officials of the Department of Revenue say 50 per cent of the appeals under the old system were upheld in some months.

Persons with pull or a lawyer's fee formerly were able to appeal their cases and take a 50-50 chance at beating the rap in a higher court. Or they could obtain a restricted license that actually nullified their suspension.

There have been no restricted licenses since March and only four that month.

On paper, the old system looked both tougher and fairer. It required 90-day suspensions in all speeding cases.

Senator Duff charged Governor Leader with inaugurating "operation death" on the state's highways through the graduated system of suspensions. "A horrible mistake," former Gov. George Earle called it.

Actually the new plan recognizes that there are many kinds of traffic offenses. Some deserve a warning; others a real crackdown. The public and higher court judges realize the fairness of the new system.

In short, the punishment now fits the crime and the punishment is harder to escape.

Smaller Communities Can Take Over Center Of Power With United Front

Politically speaking, how important are the smaller communities of the nation—those with less than 25,000 population?

Here's a question often raised. It is likely to get close attention in January both in Washington and in Harrisburg.

A survey recently completed throws valuable light on the matter. It shows that small-town and farm residents hold a clear majority in 42 of the 48 states. They control 84 of the 96 U. S. Senate seats; and dominate 275 of the 435 congressional districts.

Theological Jazz Prompts Question About Objections To Way Folks Sing Of God

Dean James A. Pike, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, recently wrote on the theology of Tin Pan Alley and he objects to much of it because the writers of the songs and lyrics want hit tunes which satisfy the tastes of their customers.

However, it strikes me that it is better to sing wrong theology than not to sing at all. Tin Pan Alley has at least this much humility: It has never called its output poetry but refers to it as lyrics, although I remember when they called it, words. "Words and music," that was the phrase and at least it was half accurate.

The learned Dean's main objection is that these song writers seem to be contracting with God for something special, which has always been low-church theology and probably that is where the song writers get it. For instance, the song "Somebody Up There Likes Me," is no worse, theologically, than "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," which Billy Sunday and Homer Roadbeaver made famous. Neither song could quite win a scholarship at Juilliard or at Tanglewood, to say nothing of a Pulitzer prize whose winners are rarely recalled.

Quite correctly, Dean Pike rejects the deals which are offered God by young people, as, for instance, "Give us this day and Thy commandments shall be done." There is no piety in that. It is a deal. It is what the politicians call a contract. You do for me and I shall do for you. Who is to deny that a deal is characteristic of our age? Duty is a word that seems to be forgotten and respect has given way before the ubiquitous democracy, which is a cover-all word meaning anything that anyone wants it to mean.

Dean Pike perhaps does not quite grasp the significance of television which enters the home for good and evil. As I write these words, I wander into the kitchen to steal a pear, out of turn and diet; our cook is at the television watching "Hamlet." I stayed a moment to see that it is a good performance and could not help thinking that it is better to see "Hamlet" on television than not to know that it had ever been written. And that might be applied as well to these songs which bring God—even theologically untidy—to those who have not known God at all.

If the lure is success on Earth or pie in the sky, it must be noted that many preachers are no wiser than the song writers, for they too promise more than they can deliver and their churches are usually fuller than those who rigidly adhere to scholarly theology which the people never understand anyhow.

There are curious contradictions in this world, such as the man who objects to the employ-

The Once Over

The Puzzled Santas

The two department-store Santas were taking their coffee-break. They seemed to be in quite an argument. You'll never guess the question disturbing them. One, named Wilbur, had asked the other, "Is there a Santa Claus?"

"If there ain't what are we doing in these costumes?" was the reply from Steve, the other Santa.

"That's just it. It bothers me. If we don't believe in Santa ain't we fraudulent operators?" asked Wilbur.

"Look, I got worries enough on this job without getting technical and worrying about by sincerely. To me this is just a character costume. I could be Henry the Eighth, Fabstaf or Captain Fletcher," insisted Steve.

"Ain't you got up sense of shame? We're supposed to be symbols, lifting up the hearts of young and old and inspiring charity and good will everywhere," argued Wilbur.

"The boys who turn out our costumes have never been told, I guess," said Steve.

"I'm serious," insisted Wilbur, "a department-store Santa should have convictions. Answer me and quit stalling: Is there a Santa Claus?"

"If there is he must be too far away to notice these whiskers and sue me for libel," said Steve. "I'm in a yes-and-no mood but maybe fifty thousand beard manufacturers can't be wrong. Stop worrying. If I got any definite information I'll let you know."

"Maybe I should see a psychiatrist," admitted Wilbur, sadly.

"He could slap you on a couch, set you back $25 and blame your whiskers and red costume on the fact you didn't get the right vitamins as an infant and were forced to go to work before you were twenty-one," said Steve. "Imagine a guy fifty years old wondering if there is a Santa! I thought you found out different away back in public school."

"I did. I laughed off Santa at the age of twelve or so. For forty years I wasn't bothered. It's only since I got broke, out of work and forced to take this job that I sort of recaptured my early belief. I have moments when I think I can snap my fingers and bring reindeer."

"What did it?" asked Steve.

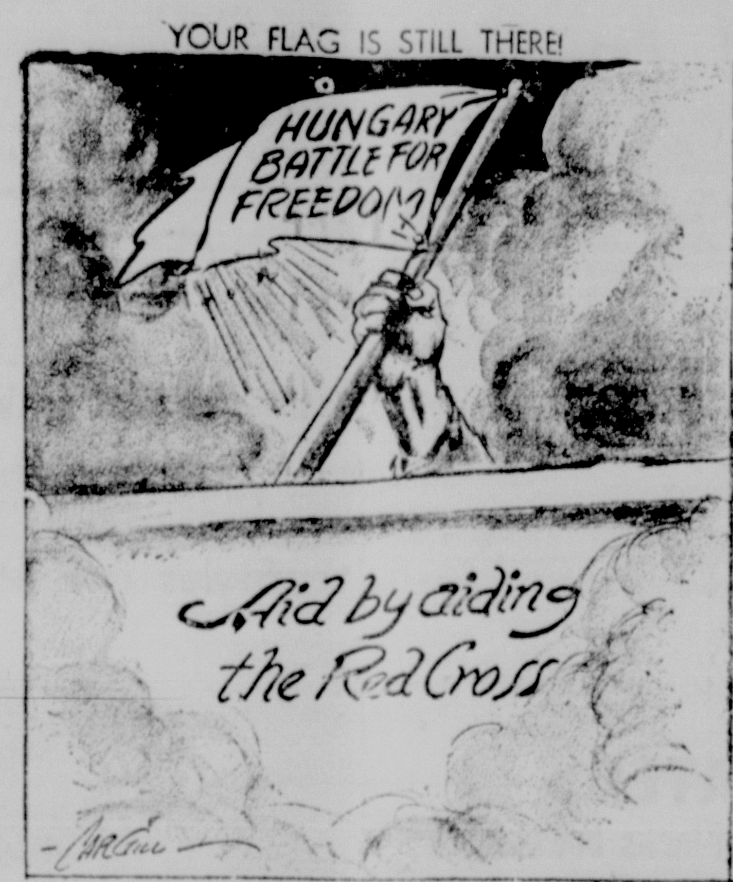

"The expression of a kid as he climbs on my lap in the toy department and stares at me in complete confidence. I looked in to one mopey's eyes an hour back and saw something that made me wonder if he didn't have the greater wisdom," was the reply.

"You're getting corny in your old age," said Steve, "and now you've got me all softened up. Okay, there IS a Santa Claus."

"Fine! Let's admit we are the two corniest department-store Kris Kringles in the business. We'll both feel happier and we'll be less apt to disillusion the small fry," chuckled Wilbur.

They went back on the job, looking extra convincing. In fact they even took pains to adjust their whiskers properly.

Senator Estes Kefauver is back on a subcommittee conducting a crime inquiry. He feels he earned a respite from baby kissing, no doubt. The matter of what happened to him in the election and who did it will not be touched on. Krishna Menon in a recent U. N. speech denounced Russia for its invasion of Hungary, said the presence of its troops there was inexcusable and called for withdrawal, but then, believe it or not, said, "My delegation will abstain" with reference to the U. N. resolution calling Russia to account for its actions! ... (It's all done by mirrors.) ... Ex-Governor Christian Herter is the new Under-Secretary of State. One of his first acts may be to determine whether Harold Stassen was an aggressor in urging him to get into the last election campaign. ... It is just possible that the guided missile Snark, supposedly lost in the Brazilian jungles didn't give a darn. ...

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Winter's Beauty Waiting If One Would Only Look

Autumn's beauty is no more. The turning of the leaves, so brief and beautiful, is another colored slide filed in memory. Now the trees stand stark, gray-shedded, and shivering under their silver coats of ice. White cottonsides, amethyst tones in the distant hills, sluggish brown of the garden path—too subtle for our untrained eyes. We wait, unseeing, through the long cold months for life and color to begin again.

Painters, poets and small children see Winter's beauty where we do not, perhaps sensing more keenly the vibrant mixture which must bring snow to the canvas, or tones of the human spirit together before life's full cycle is run. Children—who knows why their exuberance reaches a rosier peak, why their kinship with Jack Frost and Saint Nicholas is a closer bond than with sun gods of summer?

Some of us love Spring—so deeply, that other times of year exist only to tick away the months until another fresh and fragile Springtime uncovers her pastel blossoms. Like a young girl in her first youthful beauty, this Spring.

For others, Summer is the season whose message strikes the heart. A flamenco dancer, vibrant with brilliance and sultry color, Summer flames across the deep blue sky. The sun worshippers revel in the high moon hotness, run toward the beaches in a frantic need for more heat, more color, more of everything Summer gives.

But somewhere in mid-August comes a momentary shadow, a faint coolness in the air. A leaf falls casually to the ground—and Autumn lovers draw deep breaths, and smile. Their special Season is on its way. With every lighted torch put to every tree, their hearts sing inside. Soon they will see the glory of Autumn leaves, which is to them both song and state of mind. Chrome yellows, reds and orange, brilliant in their sadness, give a brief week's beauty to those who wait the year out of this sight.

Then it's over. All color gone, life gone for a time. Doors are closed against the chill, wet feet warmed before the fire, holly wreaths and fresh-ground coffee passed round to relieve the dull landscape.

But ah—how beautiful Winter really is, to those whose eyes can see her. How beautiful any Season, any place, any person, to those whose eyes can see. Could it be that in loving one thing so much, we miss the beauty in another?

Democratic Chances To Win Senate Control Look Slim

Washington, Dec. 19 — Democratic leaders are making an unhappy discovery regarding the new Senate.

They may not control it after all.

In fact, as of right now, it's a good betting proposition that they won't.

At the most, their chances appear no better than 50-50.

On paper, the party line-up of the Senate that convenes on Jan. 3 is 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans. That's the basis for the general assumption the Democrats will again take over control.

But that Democratic total is deceptive. It's not all it appears to be.

Officially, there are 49 Democrats. But not that many have definitely committed themselves to vote for Democratic control of the Senate.

Two of them are ominously refusing to say what they will do.

Not only is Senator-elect Frank Lausche, O., firmly keeping his own counsel on this moot question, but so is Senator-elect Strom Thurmond, S.C. Lausche's silence was expected by Democratic leaders, but Thurmond's is surprising them very much.

That's why they are privately in such a sweat. Some are even going so far as to imply they expect the Republicans, in the end, to wind up with control of the Senate.

Lausche and Thurmond are at opposite poles on major issues; notably on civil rights. But the Ohioan and the South Carolinian see eye-to-eye on giving no hint to Democratic leaders as to which party they will support to take over the Senate — and all committee chairmanships and numerous patronage and other choice prerequisites.

The party chiefs have made repeated overtures to both of them, but to no avail so far.

An exceptional inducement was extended to Lausche. He's been offered a place on the powerful Judiciary Committee, which handles upwards of 40 percent of all legislation considered by the Senate. That's almost unprecedented for a "rookie" senator.

But while ignoring this tempting proffer, the Ohio Governor has given Democratic leaders a big scare by the following:

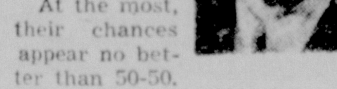

(1) He conferred with White House assistant Sherman Adams, whose vigorous backstage efforts to win GOP control of the Senate are an open secret; (2) subsequently he told friends that, contrary to reports, he will be on hand when the Senate votes on the civil rights bill.

Lausche has been credited with planning to delay taking his Senate seat until January 15, when his gubernatorial term expires, and thus duck the showdown on control. But now his inside word is he'll be there, although he is carefully not saying who he'll be for.

Thurmond is doing the same, in a different way.

The militant South Carolinian is telling friends he will vote for the party which he believes will do the most for the South. The Democratic leaders haven't the slightest idea where that leaves them.

And they are also deriving no comfort from the optimism which Republican leaders are now evincing. Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, is confidently saying, "Our chances for organizing the Senate are improving every day. It's still uncertain what the outcome will be, but our prospects are a lot better than they appeared to be a few weeks ago. We're really getting somewhere, and there may be a big surprise when the votes are counted."

No Loss — National Chairman Paul Butler is shedding no tears over the refusal of the top Democratic leaders of Congress to be members of the National Advisory Committee.

In fact, some of them now suspect that's what he hoped they would do.

Reason for this suspicion is the way Butler went about the matter. He announced their appointment to the Committee without first getting their approval.

This curious procedure has aroused much inner party ire at the Indian. He is far from popular anyway, and this episode has not improved sentiment toward him. It's open talk among National Committee. But when he doesn't dare convene this group for fear he will be kicked out of the chairmanship.

That's virtually certain to happen at the next meeting of the National Committee. But when that will be is conjectural. Butler has no intention of holding a session as long as he can possibly avoid it.

Following the rebuff from the congressional leaders, he had a talk with California Committee-man Paul Ziffren. He offered the resolution at the recent Executive Committee meeting which created the Advisory Committee.

"The Democratic Party is a lot bigger than its representation in Congress," declared Ziffren. "Take California and New York. They are the two biggest states in the country, but neither has a Democratic senator. That's why the Advisory Committee is so important and we should go ahead with it regardless of these congressional declinations."

Butler heartily concurred with this view.

Former Gap Resident In Hospital

By Jim Riley

Thomas Durich, former resident of Delaware Water Gap, is finding the going mighty tough these days and would like very much to hear from his many friends in this area.

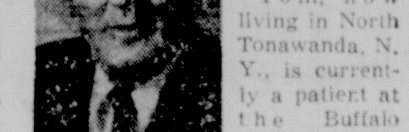

Tom, now living in North Tonawanda, N. Y., is currently a patient at the Buffalo Veterans Hospital, where he recently had surgery performed on his spine.

Durich, who has been in the hospital for much of the past year, is improving, but still expects to be in the hospital for a considerable length of time.

Although Tom expects to be in the hospital for some time, it is also quite possible that he will spend the Christmas holidays with his wife and family at 78 Wheatfield St., North Tonawanda, N. Y.

As if Tom's troubles weren't enough, one of the four Durich children is down with the measles at the present time.

Mrs. Durich is the former Shirley Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings Sr., Delaware Water Gap.

Gunman Robs Two Women In East Stroudsburg Apartment

$900 In Cash, Jewelry Stolen

A TALL, SLENDER gunman last night pushed his way into the apartment of two East Stroudsburg women and then emptied three pocketbooks of about $900 in cash and jewelry without saying a word.

The well-dressed gunman, wearing a white handkerchief over his face, left the apartment of Mrs. Ruth Naugle and Miss Arlene West as quickly and as quietly as he came, according to Borough Police Chief Travis Seese.

Seese said the victims arrived at their 125 Center St. apartment about 8:15 p.m., after being out Christmas shopping.

Knock
Ten to 15 minutes later, the police chief continued, Miss Naugle answered a knock at the door. As she opened it, the gunman pointed the weapon at her, and shoved her out of the way.

Then he picked up the three pocketbooks and proceeded to empty them of more than $200 in cash and some $600 in jewelry, Seese reported. Without saying a word, he left without threatening or otherwise harming his victims.

Police believe the intruder made his get-away in a car parked in an adjoining alley.

The victims described the gunman as being about six-feet tall, of slender build, having brown hair, and wearing a gray cap and overcoat.

1957 May Be Better Year Than 1956

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Forecasts that 1957 will be a "moderately" better year than prosperous 1956 were advanced cautiously and with some dissents — by spokesmen for a dozen industries today.

The appraisals were delivered at a business outlook forum conducted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. As summarized by the chamber's chief economist, Dr. Emerson Schmidt, they reflected "mild, cautious optimism."

Further price increases were foreseen by almost all the speakers, each the executive of a national trade association. One said steel might rise another $8.50 a ton in mid-1957.

Some foresaw softness in their own fields.

Few Signs
A few signs of a leveling off were reported in the less-than-glowing forecasts of spokesmen for these groups:

American Institute of Architects, Edmund R. Purves, executive director—Judged by work now in architects' hands, total construction next year may approximate equal the record total of 1956. The government is forecasting officially a further increase.

National Assn. of Home Builders, Nat. Reg. research director—Housing will enter 1957 at a rate below one million starts a year. Business should pick up "somewhere along the way," and there may be a million or more starts during the year. This contrasts with 1,100,000 in 1956 and more than 1,300,000 in 1955.

National Foundation for Consumer Credit, William J. Cheyney, executive vice president—Makers of refrigerators, ranges and other electrical equipment will have to fight harder in 1957 to maintain the volume enjoyed in 1956.

Radio-Electronics • Television Manufacturers Assn., James Seest, executive vice president—Television set production, which has fallen about nine per cent this year to approximately 7,100,000 sets, may edge down a little further to around seven million in 1957.

The forecast of a 1957 price increase for steel, on top of the $8.50 rise which followed last summer's steel strike, came from William S. Story, public relations director of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel.

Story noted that the industry faces a "bull-in wage increase" in mid-1957, as part of the contract negotiated this year with the United Steel Workers.

STOCK IN TRADE at Basler's grocery store, Main St., Gouldsboro, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Extensive damage was also caused to the adjoining L. H. Ellenberger hardware and dry goods store, while water and smoke damage was caused to the upstairs apartment of recently-wedded Mr. and Mrs. John Medway.

Hawaiian Girl, U. S. Marine Hope To Marry In Mountainhome Sometime In Month Of May

By Leonard Randolph
IT COULD HAVE BEEN just "another story" about two young people in love who want to be married. But there are some elements in the recent lives of Pfc. Roger Rake and Jocelyn Pilapil which change the basic outlines of that story.

Miss Pilapil and Pfc. Rake "hope to be married" sometime in May. They hope, too, that it will be in Mountainhome, where the Hawaiian girl is now staying with Rake's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaller.

Because of the understanding and kindness shown to them by many persons—including U. S. officials—during recent days, they can look forward to that time with a little more confidence than they might have had two weeks ago.

Plane
It was then that Jocelyn, who is 18, boarded a plane in Honolulu and flew to the States. She was bound, then, for the Shaller home. Rake, who is 20 and will be 21 in April, had bought her ticket and asked her to go to the Shaller's because he wanted to come home and marry her.

They had intended to be married, eventually, in Hawaii. But Pfc. Rake—who intends to make the Marine Corps his career—had reneged. He found out that he was being shipped back to the States for instruction duty at a Marine base.

Because they did not want to be separated, they devised the plan to send Jocelyn "home" to the Shaller's.

There was only one thing wrong with the plan: Jocelyn had run away from home before, last year. She had been picked up by work in architects' hands, total construction next year may approximate equal the record total of 1956. The government is forecasting officially a further increase.

National Assn. of Home Builders, Nat. Reg. research director—Housing will enter 1957 at a rate below one million starts a year. FACING THE FUTURE—Pfc. Roger Rake, 20, Mountainhome and his fiancée Jocelyn Pilapil, 18 of Hawaii, told The Daily Record yesterday that they "hope to be married" in May. Their story made front-page news recently when Jocelyn ran away from home to come to Mountainhome to wait for Roger.

During the next few weeks, they both said.
But, in the meantime, they're keeping their fingers crossed—and hoping—and praying, that everything will turn out right.

So—we might add—are a lot of other people who, in the past two weeks, have let them know they cared and wished them good luck.

Fire Damages Stores In Gouldsboro

GOULDSBORO — Firefighters from six communities yesterday battled a fire of undetermined origin which caused extensive damage to a frame building housing two stores and the apartment of a newly-wedded couple.

The blaze apparently started in the rear of Al Basler's grocery store, which was completely gutted. Extensive damage was also caused to the adjoining dry goods and hardware store of L. H. Ellenberger, and smoke and water damage was caused to the upstairs apartment of Mr. and Mrs. John Medway.

Firemen were still at the scene at a late hour last night.

Alarm
Answering the alarm, which sounded about 2:30 p.m., were men and equipment from Moscow, Covington Township, Moose, Madisonville, Springbrook, and Coolbaugh Township.

Ellenberger, who was in Stroudsburg at the time the blaze broke out, said one wall of his store was badly damaged. Stock and shelves were destroyed. It was estimated that damage will run into several thousand dollars.

Basler's store was reportedly virtually destroyed.

Conference On Floods Ends

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A two-day conference of the northeastern states on floods and disasters ended today with state officials expressing doubt that deadlines set by the government for participation in the federal flood insurance act of 1956 could be met.

The conference was sponsored by the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation in conjunction with the Council of State Governments.

Fire At Camp Hugh Beaver

BUSHKILL Local firemen were called to Camp Hugh Beaver on Sugar Mountain yesterday at 6:10 a.m. when a chimney fire threatened the caretaker's home. The blaze was extinguished with only minor damage.

The property is owned by the Easton YMCA. Because of a bridge being out, firemen had to take a round-about route of six miles to reach the camp.

Stroudsburg Lions Feature Annual Christmas Program

STROUDSBURG LIONS held their annual family Christmas party Tuesday night. The ballroom of the Penn-Stroud Hotel was specially decorated for the occasion.

Santa Claus (impersonated by Jake Kintz) passed out gifts to the children. Names were read by Emerson Rahn, chairman of the Christmas party committee. Entertainment was provided by Robert Logan.

When gifts had been handed out the guests enjoyed cake, ice cream and milk or coffee. A brief business meeting was held with Harold Miller, president, in charge.

Resolutions
Resolutions of sorrow were adopted on the death of Irving Jolley, for many years a member of the club and active in its affairs. A similar resolution was adopted concerning the recent death of George Costenbader, a member of the club.

Honor certificates for service to the club were presented to Lowell H. Cross, Dr. James Gavin and Emerson Rahn. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 8.

Pennsylvania Third In Population

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Pennsylvania, though its population has increased 4.4 per cent since 1940, has fallen deeper into the No. 3 spot with New York and California growing bigger — faster.

The Keystone State had been the second largest in the union for 160 years until California forged to the front, by a narrow margin, in the 1950 census.

But the difference between Pennsylvania and California was so small that year that both states were given the same number of congressional representatives, 30.

Bureau
However, the Census Bureau reports today that Pennsylvania's population was estimated on July 1 to have reached 10,964,000, a gain of 4.4 per cent, while California's soared to 13,433,000, a 26.9 increase over the 1950 figure.

Population-wise the United States has grown 10.9 per cent since 1950, so the Pennsylvania increase is considerably below average. New York, the nation's biggest, increased its residents by 9.2 per cent.

Also increasing, and getting closer to Pennsylvania, were Illinois with an 8.3 gain, Ohio 14.5, Texas 15.7 and Michigan 18 per cent.

This means that come 1960, when the next census will be held, the Keystone State's congressional delegation might be reduced again. In 1950 it was cut from 33 to 30.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A 78-year-old family tradition is being continued with the election of Charles Pratt Jr. to the board of directors of the Brooklyn Bureau of Social Service and Children's Aid Society. Members of Pratt's family, starting with Pratt's great-grandfather, have served continuously on the board since 1873.

Fireman Brings Fire To Fire House

ACME HOSE CO. firemen had to answer one alarm at 9:15 last night — but they had another fire parked right on their doorstep before they could get out.

A fire company official said the alarm came in to go to 425 Broadhead Ave. Firemen were just getting ready to pull out of the N. Courtland St. fire house when a car (pouring smoke) pulled up in front.

Automobile
It was fireman Richard Notz. His brother, Robert, had brought him to the fire hall. It was Robert's car that was on fire.

Firemen grabbed a CO2 extinguisher; put out the flames in the Notz car. Then they went on to the home of Russell Serrano.

There they found an overheated motor in a forced hot air heating system. They put that one out, too.

Bangor Students Nominated For Keystone Degree

Godshalk, Butz Named For Honor

BANGOR — New honors have come to the Future Farmers of America Chapter of the Bangor Area Joint High School.

George Ott, agriculture teacher at the school, received official word from the State FFA office yesterday that two Bangor boys had been nominated for the Keystone Degree, third highest award in the national organization.

Chosen to receive the award are Robert Butz and Roy Godshalk, both senior students.

Butz is president of both the Bangor Chapter and the Pocono Area Chapter. He will represent the local group at the State FFA convention during the State Farm Show in Harrisburg starting Jan. 15.

Secretary

Godshalk is Bangor Chapter secretary and also reported for the Pocono Area Chapter.

They are the only two boys from the entire area to be selected for the Keystone Degree this year, Ott said. Of 310 high school chapters in Pennsylvania, only 222 boys were nominated to receive the honor.

During the 20-year history of the Bangor Chapter, 42 of its members have received the Keystone Farmer award. This is considered a record accomplishment among Pennsylvania chapters, Ott said. In addition, six members of the chapter have been selected for the American Farmer Degree during the same period, also believed to be a record.

Choralairs Sing For Kiwanis Club

A PROGRAM of Christmas and popular songs was presented by the Choralairs, vocal group at East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School, at yesterday's meeting of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The Choralairs, composed of four girls and four boys, were directed by Miss Ona Weimer, vocal music director in the joint school.

In the group were Marilyn Nittle, Ruth Dietrick, Jo Ann Scott and Sarah Hostetter, who comprise the Girls Quartet, and Anton Prechtel, Jack Wallie, Jerry Gartner and Dick Ashcroft, who make up the Boys Quartet.

Robert L. Weichel was program chairman and in charge of the meeting. William P. Wells, president, and the song period was conducted by Earl Willhoite, with Numa J. Snyder at the piano.

Sunday School Plans Program

EFFORT — St. John's Lutheran Sunday School will present a Christmas program Saturday at 8 p. m. in the church.

The program will consist of recitations, solos and exercises by the smaller children and a candle-light pageant entitled "Light and Peace." The public is invited to attend.

Bloom Terms GOP Leadership In State Senate 'Fluid'

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19 (AP)—George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, today described the Senate GOP leadership situation as "fluid" and said "no agreements have been made."

Bloom made the statement in commenting on published reports there were signs he would go along with Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (Dauphin) in re-election of Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) as Senate GOP leader.

Taylor, already endorsed for re-election as Senate president pro tempore, is backing Mahany for floor leader and Sen. Albert R. Pechan (Armstrong) as Mahany's assistant. The re-election of all three would return to the Senate the same leadership as in 1955-56.

However, Sen. James S. Berger (Potter) chairman of the Republican Senate caucus, has declared himself available for the leadership post.

If Berger wants to be a candidate for floor leader, Bloom said, "I'm for Berger."

The Republican Senate majority will meet again at Hershey on Dec. 27 to complete slating of candidates for the 1957 session of the Legislature opening New Year's Day.

Christmas Dance Set For Dec. 27

The Junior Woman's Club has invited everyone to attend their Christmas dance, it was announced by Mrs. R. N. Hummel, dance chairman. The dance will be held on Thursday, Dec. 27, from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Penn-Stroud ballroom. Bill Dichi's orchestra will play.

Proceeds of the dance will be used to give each ward of the Children's Aid Society $2.50 as a Christmas present to spend as they wish.

ESHS Choruses Entertain Portland Club

Portland — At the Christmas meeting of the Portland Woman's Club in the social rooms of the Baptist church a musical program featured East Stroudsburg Area High School choruses with Miss Charlotte Bach, instructor, singing with the girls chorus, and the boys quartette singing several numbers with combined selections by the whole group, the Chorallers with Miss Ona Welmer as music instructor and accompanist.

The chorus included Miss Jo Ann Scott, Miss Marilyn Nittie, Miss Sarah Hostetter, Miss Ruth Dietrick, Anton Pritchel, Jack Wallie, Jerry Gartner and Richard Ascheroff.

The program opened with group carols with Mrs. John Ribble as accompanist. Mrs. C. J. Nealing gave the meditation and prayer.

"Toys for Tots" were placed by the members under the Christmas tree to be distributed among needy children of the community.

Mrs. Ernest Courtney presided at the business meet. New members welcomed included Mrs. Sam Garofalo, Mrs. Randall Stine, and Miss Joan Ackerman. Miss Charlotte Bach was appointed drama chairman in the place of Mrs. William Weideman who resigned as chairman. Mrs. Jennie Fregans resigned as a member of the club.

Hostesses during the social hour were Miss Agnes Williams, chairman; Mrs. James Garofalo, Mrs. Raymond Jewell, Mrs. William Kennedy, Mrs. Howard Traves, Miss Ella Jelinek, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Jacob Ott, Miss Harriet Wagner and Miss Anne Woodley.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There is an ebb of flow in human emotions as inevitable as the tides, election and depression succeeding each other regardless of what's happening on the shore. The extent of the rise and fall depends on the person and his situation, of course, but everybody has it to some extent.

For some people it's practically unnoticeable—like the tide creeping in and out of a quiet estuary; for others as spectacular as the thundering cataracts in the Bay of Fundy.

Like certain stages of the moon, certain seasons of the year bring their flood tide of joy and this is certainly one where it is breaking over the high-water mark, splintering into rainbow spray, booming in resounding hymns, tumbling in joyous confusion.

Which is why the corresponding ebb seems so much more dismal. A general weariness; a relaxation of pressure; a sense of disappointment that you've spent too much or not enough; a feeling of guilt when people are too kind, and of hurt when they seem forgetful; an anxiety that the household be happy and yet a rebellion against doing your part to make it so—everything and nothing.

It wouldn't seem too drastic if everybody reached the same point at the same time but it generally doesn't; you're up and they're down or vice versa. The important thing, I guess, is to accept the ebb and flow and not get it confused with the permanent things of Christmas.

Besides, an ebb tide can have a gentle charm of its own, laying bare hidden things, replenishing your strength from the wide sea itself, quieting the heart in unfathomable depths.

Zion Church Is Scene Of Wedding

Miss Nancy C. Rinehart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Rinehart of 1070 Fritz Ave., Stroudsburg, and James Edward Agins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Agins Sr., 1008 Fairview Ave., Stroudsburg, were married Dec. 8, at 8 p. m. at the Zion Reformed Church, Eighth St., Stroudsburg.

Rev. Frank Blatt performed the ceremony. Mrs. Fred Quig, organist, in her recital played the wedding music of Henry Purcell, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Calm as the Night," "Intermezzo" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Lois Lambert as maid of honor, Thomas A. Carson served as best man, while Gary Agins, brother of the bridegroom, and Carl Andrews were ushers.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of silk with short sleeves, a low cut neckline and a fitted bodice. Her fingertip veil fell from a halo and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Lambert wore a gown of blue net over taffeta with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The bride's mother wore a gold suit and shoes of driftwood, a white hat and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of grey-blue silk with light blue hat, gloves and shoes, and a corsage of red roses.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Overpeck, of 332 North Ninth St. The bridal table was decorated with a white bell centerpiece and streamers to the sides of the table, with flowers and a three-tier wedding cake.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended Stroudsburg High School. The bridegroom is serving in the U. S. Navy. They are making their home at 1008 Fairview Ave., Stroudsburg.

Crusader Party Friday
Bartonville — The December meeting and Christmas party of the Crusader class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School will be held at the parish house on Friday night, Dec. 21. Members will not exchange gifts but instead are asked to bring a donation for the Sunday School building fund. Those attending are requested to bring some food for refreshments.

Time set for the Crusader meeting is 8 p. m. but members are urged to come early and help trim the church Christmas tree.

Ever-Welcome Class

Hamilton Township—The Ever-Welcome Sunday School Class of Christ Hamilton Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Jennie Gross, on Friday night. Each member is asked to bring a grab bag gift, Secret Pal gift and a covered dish.

Garden Club Party Held At Firehouse

Bushkill—With a full schedule of events the Bushkill Garden Club held their meeting on Thursday. A business meeting, luncheon Christmas party and program were all included in the day's activities.

Mrs. Frank Tolman was re-elected to the office of president with Mrs. Robert B. Irwin re-elected as vice president. Mrs. G. R. Flagler was elected secretary and Miss Esther Sloane, treasurer.

Mrs. Bartram reported that the Aid Society of the Dutch Reformed Church would match the $11.26 contribution of the garden club for "Cheer Baskets." The wiring of the community Christmas tree has been completed by Ralph G. Turn and Herbert Brauer.

Mrs. DeRocco suggested that the club compile a community cookbook, members were asked to bring their favorite recipes to the next meeting. The club will institute a telephone tree with each member taking an active part. One new member, Mrs. John Myers and one renewal member, Mrs. Ora Scheller, were welcomed.

Mrs. Fisher suggested that the club vote to dress one of the windows of the newly painted assembly room of the firehouse. It was voted to donate $10 to this cause.

The Christmas party followed with members exchanging gifts. Mrs. Bartram, program chairman, read the origin of the symbols and customs of the Christmas season. Carols were sung with Miss Hilda B. Wells as accompanist.

The tables were decorated in greens and candles and at each place setting there was a miniature dish garden which contained wintergreen berries, moss, fungi and greens. The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. B. H. Bensley, Mrs. E. B. Bartram and Mrs. Frank Tolman.

Wesley Chapel Children's Party Sat. Afternoon

A Christmas party for the children of Wesley Chapel Sunday School and Church will be held in the church social hall on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 22, at 2:30.

Sunday school sessions at Wesley Chapel will start at 10:00 a. m. on Sunday, Dec. 23, and will be followed by a Christmas program at 10:45. A film "The Christmas Tree" will be shown and the program will include scripture readings, songs and recitations. The public is invited to attend.

Dice and sugar free fruit; put a spoonful of the fruit into a tall glass. Add a scoop of ice cream or sherbet and fill with ginger ale.

Zion Guild Gives $50 For Hungarian Relief

The Youth For Christ chorus under the direction of Robert Bullock presented the program for the Christmas meeting of the Woman's Guild of Zion Ev. and Reformed Church. Their selections included a medley "Peace," by the group; "Come Unto His Manger Bed," mixed quartette; two numbers by the girls' trio with Susan Warner as soloist; and a medley of Christmas carols by the group.

During the business meeting, the Guild voted to give $50 to Hungarian relief. The congregational meeting will be held Jan. 7 in the church rooms.

Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Stackhouse President Of Fidelia Class

The Fidelia Class of John's Lutheran Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Lilyan Buck with Mrs. Margaret Stabenow assisting.

The meeting was conducted by the President, Miss Thelma Shaw. The devotions was presented by Mrs. Natalie Stackhouse.

The nominating committee reported the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. Natalie Stackhouse, president; Mrs. LaDora Bolcar, vice president; Mrs. Lilyan Buck, secretary; Mrs. Margie Barnes, treasurer. Games were played with prizes being won by Thelma Shaw and LaDora Bolcar.

Refreshments of frozen fruit salad and Christmas cookies were served from a decorated table to Mrs. Cora Green, teacher; Mrs. Sadie Lyons, Mrs. Ethel Meyer, Mrs. Dorothy Rupert, Mrs. Sarah Price, Mrs. Mary Hamlen, Miss Thelma Shaw, Mrs. Margie Barnes, Mrs. LaDora Bolcar, Mrs. Natalie Stackhouse, Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Mildred Renninger by the hostesses, Mrs. Lilyan Buck and Mrs. Margaret Stabenow.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mildred Renninger with Mrs. Cora Green assisting.

Program Sun. Afternoon

Bartonville — The children of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School will present a Christmas program on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 23, at 2:30, in the church sanctuary. The public is invited to attend.

Directors of the program are Mrs. Hayland Heller, Mrs. Donald Hartman, Mrs. Joseph Dunbar and Mrs. Robert Field.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Hi, Kids,
I'm wondering if you've done any of that Christmas shopping we talked about yesterday? In my travels, I've found so many additional 100-or-less items at Wyckoff's. I do hope you haven't finished. Some of today's suggestions are real honey!

In our gift department, I found an ash tray that any cigar or cigarette smoking Dad will be sure to appreciate. And it costs only 50c. It's chrome, I think, with a fabric bottom that's really a bean bag, designed to hold the tray firmly in place no matter where Dad perches it, on chair arm, wastebasket, or window ledge. He might also appreciate a Memo pad with magnetized pencil for home or office desk . . . this is also a 1.00. If he receives lots of mails, perhaps he'd welcome a letter opener . . . and we have some brass stunners at 1.00 with your choice of Dutch boy, Dutch girl, or clipper ship on the handle.

Mother likes brass too probably, and for the home we have small brass plaques that are very pretty hung singly or in pairs. These are priced low enough to meet your piggy-bank budget, while for 1.75, there's a large brass plaque with the Lord's Prayer. Kill two birds with one stone, and give this to both Mother and Dad!

Our notions department is just bulging with inexpensive but attractive gift suggestions. Any girl or woman would be pleased with the little leatherette sewing kit at 1.00. It's zippered, and contains tiny scissors, thimble, needles, thread, and other sewing items. Pretty plastic tape measures . . . crocheted shopping bags in their own crocheted container . . . fancy floral-decorated bobbin pins . . . all are 89c. At 15c, you can buy a card of four gold plated bobbin pins for a teen ager, or, at 25c, a careful of colored metal bobbin pins. Plastic rain hoods, neatly pleated into a pretty purse case complete with comb, are just 49c, while hoods made of umbrella silk in bright color, are 1.00. Mock-leopard belts are 1.00, as is the Pival—a handy little roller that's wonderful at lifting lint from Dad's suit or Mother's coat. Another delightful 1.00 notion is the miniature scarf, filled with foam rubber, holding safety pins, ribbon threader, and scissors. These are colorful and cute . . . something different.

Another 89c gift from our notions department would delight almost anyone. It's a gift case that holds a folding plastic picture album. There are places for ten prized snapshots of family or friends.

But Altemus, of our men's department, pointed out to me numerous items that Dad or Big Brother would welcome, and most of them are just 1.00. These include: bow ties . . . long ties . . . and the bow tie the wearer ties for himself . . . flashlights of all styles to keep near his work bench or in the car . . . stretch socks (you needn't know the size for these) or cotton Argyles, for which you should know the size . . . three pants hangers, attractively packaged in cellophane . . . safety razors . . . and handkerchiefs. Dad also has beautiful initialed linen handkerchiefs at 50c each; lighter fluid at 29c; and razor blades at 29c and 49c. If you'd like to spend as much as 1.50, your Dad (if he's the sporty type) might appreciate the initialed hariat, rather than a tie. This would definitely be popular with almost any "boy friend" or Big Brother.

For mother, the girls in our Wyckoff cosmetic department, suggest Coty perfume. (Remember the tax on cosmetics, raising the 1.00 purchase price to 1.15). Argenta lotion pads or balm . . . boxes of guest size soap . . . the Blue Grass puff box of body powder . . . gold mesh or fabric cosmetic bags . . . or Home Fragrance Spray. Argenta Balm also comes in a 50c size, and for 98c you can buy a giant-size bottle of Cheramy Skin Balm. They even offer a delightful 79c suggestion—a tiny bottle of Evening in Paris.

In our corset department you'll find pretty bras at 1.00, and in lingerie we have panties and bed socks. Our hosiery department has 1.00 seamless stockings and 1.00 wool gloves. But for these again you should know the size. As a matter of fact, it's also a good idea to know the favorite color of those on your list. Our stationery department has purse-size note pads, writing papers, and ball point pens at all prices.

So there you are. We hope your shopping will be easy, and your friends impressed with the beauty of your gifts.

Sincerely,
Madalyn M.

Flood Control, Traffic War Highlight Last June's News Items

from New York told how, beautiful, blond-type actress Kim Novak had disembarked (this is a good word but it sounds better when it's done by someone like Kim) from Europe with her hair tinted a new, pale, lavender hue. Didn't seem to have much bearing on N. Seventh St. But the next day we saw two ladies walking down the street with lavender hair. We decided it was a small-world and all that. Found out later it was someone's grandmother who didn't want all the girls in the bridge club to remember those little toddlers.

Highways formed a major part of our conversation during June. The State secretary, Jo-Jo Lawler, told Pennsylvania Motor Federation members that temporary bridges on Route 611 would have cost so much money it would have held up construction of permanent spans, possibly. The man said the State was hurrying things up as fast as engineering could be completed. He also said that previous estimates, during the Fine administration, on State highway needs had been pitifully inadequate.

A contract for the construction of three washed out bridges—two between Bartonsville and Tannersville—and the other at Bartonsville on Route 12, was awarded on June 22 to Herbert Imbt, State College. Low bid: $398,395.

Monroe County's central Ground Observer Corps Post was opened in Stroudsburg on June 9. Rain, hail and a small cyclone hit the area the following day; caused damage to utilities and homes in Cresco. The promise of a new "million-dollar shopping center" loomed up on the horizon. A Seranton retail firm bought 100 acres from the Franklin Strunk estate in Arlington Heights near the site of the new Stroud Union grade school. It was nearly at the center of a mushrooming residential section. Monroe County's Company G, National Guard, got new praise as "the largest company in strength" in the State NG.

The Corps of Engineers let a contract for a sub-surface study of Toek's Island; announced that a preliminary report on Brodheads Creek should be available sometime soon. Tobyhanna Signal Depot carried out what was probably the sweetest-smelling soil conservation program in history. Men up there planted 110,000 honeysuckle plants. Covered an area estimated at 50 acres. Honeysuckle, an expert told us, is one of the best erosion preventives known to man. We thought the whole thing sounded a little imperfect: all that honeysuckle but no shaded veranda, no soft banjos strummin', no hammock under the Spanish moss, no mint julep.

The small war on Ann St. ended without bloodshed and without victory for either side. A court ruling, agreed to by Burgess Hal Harris, said that the Burgess was prohibited from diverting trucks onto Ann from Seventh and Ninth Sts. "except between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week from June 1 to October 15." Said he couldn't do it at all from Oct. 15 to the last of May. The next day, of course, was June 15.

We had our first real balmy

Summer day on the 14th and our man Rod MacLeod rose to the challenge with a front-page picture spread of Monroe County's Coney Island up at Stoke Mill. The next day MacLeod and society editor Bobby Westbrook seen their duty again and done it. Armed with a Speed Graphic, an aluminum pan (disposable type), two eggs, a pancake turner (egg turner if you want to be finicky), a pepper mill, a salt shaker, they went off to the secluded confines of Seventh and Main St.

Here they embarked on a scientific experiment designed to prove that it was "hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk." Half an hour later they came back—with two pictures (undeveloped), a pepper mill, a salt shaker, a pancake turner, an aluminum pan (rather undisposable in its condition) and—two raw eggs.

Mrs. Herman Smeltz Jr., Oak St., East Stroudsburg and Ronald Arncliffe, W. Main St., Stroud-burg, rescued three young swimmers from perilous waters at Stokes Mill that same day. The Ford Foundation announced it was local historians and social studies professor at STC, was named college president.

Wind Gap officials checked with State experts and Troopers, then stepped up the timing on their traffic lights. The purpose: To help speed up traffic going through the borough and into the Pocono. Local Summer camps got an offer of aid from community agencies who said they'd do their best to help out in the event of any "disaster" or other emergency.

Two New York teen-agers stopped briefly at the Wendell Wicks home, East Stroudsburg Rd. The girls said they were on their way all across the United States and back again. Only hitch: The girls were set to pedal their way through on bicycles. It was like a touch of Southern Switzerland, somehow. We could just see the girls spinning their way up the Matterhorn, next.

Jim Riley, holding forth in his values. A customary space on the editorial page, stirred up something of a running story on—of all things—peacocks. Said he'd heard tell there were some loose out in the country. There were. For more than a week he tried to find (1) the owners, (2) the people who had seen them in other areas and (3) the peacocks. Things turned out fine in the end.

Ransom workers said "No contract—No work" on the first day of the month! During the next 30 days negotiations went on between the union and the company. Employees picketed all three Ransom plants. At the eleventh hour (for June) the company handed a "package offer" to the union. Two days later the union said it wasn't satisfactory to workers. The work shutdown went on.

Horatio W. Haas Jr., East Stroudsburg Rd. 3, was named commander of the Society of the 28th Division at its four-day convention in Philadelphia on the 30th. Monroe County's market value on property rose to a record high according to the State Tax Equalization Board. The STEB said county real estate was valued at $104,345,300 during 1955. As usual, the agency said, assessments failed to keep pace with the rise in actual values.

Up in Forest Park, the International Garment Workers Union opened its brand new $750,000 theater—designed by Rinker and Klefer, Stroudsburg architects. It was a thing of beauty to behold and a marvelous theatrical plant boasting one of the largest and finest backstage areas anywhere in a "Summer playhouse." On hand to help get it started, officially, were Marian Anderson, members of the

New York City Ballet Company (Melissa Hayden and Andre Egley-sky.) Gov. Leader, George Meany and Dave Dublin.

We had no let-up in the war between man and beasts in June. Out on Dreher Ave. Postman Edgar Hall was going quietly about his business, delivering mail. Started up the steps of Mrs. Edward F. Sheip's home at 1114 Dreher Ave. Mrs. Sheip said good morning and don't look now but wasn't that squirrel back there behind Hall following him?

Hall started to look over his shoulder. The squirrel jumped on his arm. He started to slap it off. Mrs. Sheip said not to do that, it was probably a tame squirrel. This was a piece of description the squirrel did not understand. He dug his teeth square in the middle of Hall's right hand.

Hall said nuts to this and whooped the squirrel a good one. The squirrel decided to test Mrs. Sheip's endurance, instead; ran up her arm and perched on her head. The lady said not to do anything. Maybe he was just hungry. Hall dug in his pocket for a piece of candy. The squirrel's appetite was not satisfied with this. He hit Mrs. Sheip on the face and neck. She lost her patience and belted him one, too. He bounced off, bit Hall's arm and took off for a nearby tree. Hall and Mrs. Sheip were treated by doctors.

It was, taking all things into consideration, one of the most unusual stories of the year.

The news was completely ordinary in one other respect during the month: Monroe County had its usual quota of traffic fatalities. John C. Palmer, Stroudsburg, was killed when his crop-dusting plane crashed near Albany, Ga. on June 21. Walter V. Arnold, East Stroudsburg, died of coronary thrombosis—at the wheel of his car on Smith St. Lyle Staples, Bushkill, was killed when his pickup truck smashed into a tree on Route 209 above Marshalls Creek.

The worst traffic accident of the year took the lives of two women. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Cope, Butztown and her mother, Mrs. Mary Shepley, Berwick. Both women were passengers in a car which was demolished on Route 115 near Brodheadsville, June 27.

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A stranger to these shores, reading about our pro football games, might blurt in some amazement: "This is sport?"

He could be excused for getting the idea the players make up the rules as they go along, the officials are a bunch of tie-brained incompetents, and that standard equipment includes the cestus, tomahawk and brass knuckles. Seldom has a season produced more terrifying yowls of anguish from coaches and club officials, with those who think their rights have been maimed beyond repair practically standing in line waiting their turn to see the harried Bert Bell.

Protest

Not too long ago the incensed brass of the Chicago Cardinals filed a bitter protest with Bell, claiming movies of the game they lost to their fellow-townsmen, the Bears, showed 23 rules violations by the Bears which went unpunished.

Just last Sunday, the Bear-Detroit Lion game produced an incident which still is echoing and re-echoing like a shriek in a cavern, with the charge of dirty play being bounced back by heated denials.

It involved the incapacitating injury suffered by Bobby Layne, Detroit's star quarterback, as a result of a tackle by Ed Meadows, Bear end.

We did not see the incident. In fact, as a televisioner we didn't even see Layne carried from the field, the announcer merely stating that "Layne was shaken up," a standard explanation even if an athlete has broken a leg or cracked a few ribs.

There seems to be no doubt that Meadows made the tackle, and the only picture we saw failed to show anything illegal about it. Layne was being hit from behind by the end, obviously with considerable vigor.

Meadows' explanation is logical enough, in that Layne is a good faking quarterback and you can't tell from the rear whether he has the ball or not. Only Meadows knows if he was aware that Bobby no longer had the ball.

We may be naive about such things after all these years, but we can't comprehend a player deliberately setting out to maim an opponent, thus not only periling his life but depriving him of his livelihood.

Label

Such an offender immediately would be labeled a heel of the lowest type; a sadist whose idea of sportsmanship would be to stick pins in a kid's balloon at a circus.

Football isn't exactly a gentle game when played according to the rules. A guy can get hurt at it, despite Jim Thorpe's amazement that anyone would think that could happen.

The pros are out there making a living, and to try to keep another pro from doing that is in the same category as a shopkeeper touching a match to a pile of papers in the basement of a rival's store in the dead of night.

There often is a bit of impromptu swinging of a handful of fist in body contact sports, but this usually is in the heat of battle and injuries suffered in such free-wheeling action usually are not more serious than a black eye or split lip.

But to coldly and with malice aforethought try to inflict serious injury, well, only in the prize ring is that tolerated, and prize fighting is in a class by itself. And not a very advanced class, either.

Wilkes College Wrestlers Undefeated

WILKES-BARRE—Wilkes College wrestling team picked up its second victory in a row as they downed Swarthmore College 27-5 at the Wilkes gym.

The Colonels are now 2-0 on the season with the first victory coming over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, 19-15, at East Stroudsburg.

Wilkes will be trying to improve on last year's record-breaking 9-1 season.

The Blue and Gold won the ESS TC match without a heavy-weight grappler when Neil Dadurka, 177 pounder, pinned his man to give the Colonels the victory.

In the Swarthmore tilt, the Wilkesmen were never headed as they won the first five matches, one of them by default.

Junior Sets Scoring Pace

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Dec. 19—Ron Rainey, bespectacled junior, currently is setting the scoring pace for a Penn State basketball team which has won three and lost two in its first five starts.

The Nittany Lions, who bowed to nationally-ranked West Virginia and North Carolina State, next will compete in the eight-team Richmond Invitational Tournament at Richmond, Va., December 27-29.

Johnstown's Rainey, who with captain Bob Leisher, of Chambersburg, has been carrying the scoring load, is averaging 16.6 points per game. Leisher's average is 12.8 points per game.

Stroudsburg Cagers Play Host To Scranton Central

Mountaineers Seek Third Favorable Nod

STROUDSBURG High will attempt to get back on the winning trail today when the Mountaineers of John Kupiec entertain Scranton Central in Stroudsburg's gymnasium. Varsity game time is 8 p.m. A preliminary between fives of both school will precede the main tilt.

For Stroudsburg the contest will be a revenge affair, for it was a Scranton team Tech—which stopped the Mountaineers after Kupiec's boys had run up two straight.

The Mountaineers, hampered by heavy fouling on their own part, fell prey to Tech's charity throw marksmanship Tuesday in the Scrantonians' lair.

Rated High

Central will invade Stroudsburg with what has been termed "potentially the best Golden Eagle five in the past 10 years." However, the Scranton team will be without the services of Pat Fruehan its all-scholastic and all-state nominee.

Fruehan scored 43 points last year while the Eagles were handing the Mountaineers a setback in Scranton.

Anthracite newspapers are building up another scorer to take the place of Fruehan in the person of forward Jerry Chisak who has led the team in their first two starts.

Another Holdover

Another holdover is playmaker Jack Gibbons who has been the sparkplug of the Clarence (Fats) Robeson-coached five.

Stroudsburg, riding along with a 2-1 log, is expected to start a quiet run from Doug Shook, Don Hickey, Bob Adelman, Ted Williams, Graydon Miller, or Jim Welsh.

There is a slight possibility that Kupiec may work Tom Savidge into the fray for a brief period. Savidge, one of the mainstays of the Mountaineers last year, has been out of action recovering from an illness.

Webb Bombs British Empire Champion

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Spider Webb, ninth ranking middleweight, tonight bombed British Empire champion Pat McAttee, 24, to the floor four times and scored a second round technical knockout in the scheduled 10-round fight for his 18th straight ring victory.

The native of Birkenhead, England, winner of 42 out of 44 bouts, including 21 kayoes, was a vulnerable as a target range from the start of the nationally televised match.

Webb, also 24, set McAttee up with a left jab and decked him with a right as he was against the ropes in the first round.

Eight Count

McAttee took the mandatory eight count and then walked into another left and a steaming right that floored him again for eight.

In the second round, McAttee continued to leave his left down and Webb walloped him with another right. When McAttee sagged Spider shot a left hook that missed and drew boos from the thin Chicago Stadium crowd of about 1,000.

Then, when McAttee bounced up, Webb planted another right to his jaw. McAttee went down again for an eight count. He rose groggily, and when Webb charged into him with lefts and rights, Referee Bill Doty called a halt to the uneven bout at 2:32.

Webb weighed 158½ pounds and McAttee 157½.

Lions Forward Film Of Game With Bears To Bell

DETROIT, Dec. 19 (AP)—Although their general manager admits "it's a hopeless case," the Detroit Lions are sending films of Sunday's disputed game with the Chicago Bears to Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League.

"I know it won't do any good," Nick Korbaw said today. "There will be no fines, no suspensions and no penalties of any kind. But perhaps it will help prevent the same kind of unsportsmanlike conduct in the future."

The disputed play occurred when Chicago defensive end Ed Meadows tackled Lions' quarterback Bobby Layne after Layne had pitched the ball out to another player.

Layne was taken from the game with a head injury. The Lions claimed he was deliberately slugged by Meadows.

Development

In another development in the aftermath of the Bears' 38-21 victory for the Western Division championship, the Lions' president took issue with a column today by L. A. Smith, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press.

Your column . . . practically exonerates Meadows from any so-called dirty play," Edwin J. Anderson wrote Smith.

Smith wrote that "Anderson arose in wild-eyed indignation . . . he said Layne was hurt on a 'borderline' case."

"The films of the game—while they show Layne was tackled after he completed the pitchout—do not show that he was slugged by Meadows."

"Both players hit the ground," Smith wrote. "So did Layne's helmet . . . hard. Meadows got up. Layne did not."

"If Anderson had seen the films BEFORE he ripped off his letter to the commissioner, the ground he now stands on might have been more firm. As it is, the ground is so shaky that the Lions' president faces a possible fine and undoubtedly a severe rebuke from Commissioner Bell, plus the threat of a lawsuit by Meadows and the Bears."

Anderson's letter to Bell suggested that Meadows be put out of pro football for life.

The president insisted in his letter to Smith that the "movies, believe it or not, do not show everything . . . I still reiterate that the Bears were out to 'get' Layne and they got him . . . and that such action just isn't good for pro football."

Russell Signs With Celtics For Undisclosed Amount

BOSTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Bill Russell, 6-11 All American Olympic basketball player, today signed to play with the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Assn.

Russell, erstwhile University of San Francisco star, was signed for an undisclosed amount by Celtic owners Walter Brown and Lou Pini in a brief ceremony at Boston Garden.

Russell said he had received a $32,000 offer from the Harlem Globetrotters which he rejected in favor of the NBA club.

Haughton Leads Harness Racing Pack

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 19—William R. (Billy) Haughton of Brookville, N.Y., still considered a harness racing "youngster" at 33, continued to dominate the sport's race and money winning departments in 1956.

Haughton won the money title for the fifth consecutive year and he race winning crown for the fourth straight time, according to figures announced today by The U.S. Trotting Association.

The former farm hand's 1956 earnings were $572,945 and he won 167 heats. The totals in both instances were slightly under his own record-breaking pace of 1955 when he banked $599,445 and won 168 races.

Haughton won the money title comfortably but his 167 wins barely withstood the late challenge of Stanley Dancer, New Egypt, N.J., who wound up with 163 victories.

Runnerrup

Runnerrup among the money winners was John F. Simpson of Maitland, Fla., who earned $455,301. Two other drivers topped the $400,000 mark, Dancer with $425,161 and Joe O'Brien, Shafter, Cal., with $422,618. It was the first time that more than two drivers had earned in excess of $400,000 in a single year.

In the race-winning column, William D. (Bud) Gilmour of Ridgeway, Ontario, Canada was third with 139 wins, 24 more than he had in 1955 when he finished in the same place. Joe Lighthill, Troy, O., was fourth with 121 and Louis Rapone, Caledonia, N.Y., fifth with 116.

Ronson Tops IBW In Cage Battle

RONSON FOUGHT off a late spurt by International Boiler Works and earned a 28-25 victory in an Industrial League basketball game at the Monroe County YMCA last night.

The ultimate winner apparently had the contest well in hand until the last eight minutes when IBW threatened to pull the verdict out of the fire.

Ronson led 5-2 at the end of the quarter, 11-5 at halftime and 17-9 at the three-quarter mark.

Don Slutter and Dick Smith led the winning attack with eight points each, while Stout's seven counters topped the losing offense.

Boxer Reports Bribe To 'Take Dive'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 19 (AP)—The Bexar County Grand Jury today probed a story by Boxer Dick Goldstein, Los Angeles, that he had been offered $500 to take a dive in his scheduled bout last night with Art Aragon, third-ranked welter.

Goldstein also said his life had been threatened.

The fight never came off. Aragon called in Dr. C. D. Henry, state boxing commission doctor. The physician said Aragon had a reddened throat and 99.2 degrees of fever. Normal is 98.6.

Goldstein, nattily attired in a pale blue suit and small-checked topcoat, appeared before the grand jury today.

Principals

Authorities were seeking five other principals in the scheduled fight. The grand jury wants to talk with them.

They are Aragon, Promoter Jimmy Parls, who arranged the match; Benny Conyers, Goldstein's local trainer; C. P. Woods, Goldstein's trainer and former trainer for Aragon; and L. L. Bal-desarell, Aragon's trainer.

Aragon, told of the charges, said "I am flabbergasted."

The grand jury recessed, subject to call, after hearing Goldstein. No immediate report was made by the jury.

Strong Teams At State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Dec. 19—Penn State, a traditional winner, fielded strong team again in 1956 in practically all sports.

Football, soccer and cross-country posted excellent records this Fall to round out a distinguished year in intercollegiate athletics.

Only one team—basketball—lost more games than it won as Coach John Egli began a rebuilding job in this sport.

The Nittany Lions were runners-up for league or sectional honors in baseball, wrestling, gymnastics, and golf.

Pirates Present Sisler With Unusual Job For Next Season

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19 (AP)—George H. Sisler, 63, chief scout of the Pittsburgh Pirates since 1950, today was given a unique job of special adviser to the field manager to improve the club's offensive punch.

dividual flaws of the players.

Brown said he had a fine pitching and defensive team but it lacked power at the plate. "If anybody can improve our hitting it is Sisler," Brown said. "He's the greatest hitting instructor in baseball."

Brown added:

Improvement

"Sisler took Roberto Clemente aside for a few days early last season and after working with the boy predicted he'd improve his .255 batting average by 30 points. Clemente finished with a .311 average, third highest in the National League."

Sisler twice led the American League in batting—in 1920 with a .407 average and in 1922 with a .420 average. He played first base for the St. Louis Browns both seasons.

Since retiring from active play, Sisler has been named a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame. Two sons followed in his footsteps. Dick Sisler formerly played with the Philadelphia Phils and the St. Louis Cardinals. Dave Sisler now is a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox.

Sisler's successor was not named immediately.

Lehigh Shows Winning Sports Record

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 19 (AP)—Lehigh University varsity athletes won 77 of 147 contests in 14 sports during the 1956 calendar year. The record was almost identical to a year ago, when Engineer squads posted 78 victories in 148 outings.

The cross-country and rifle teams had the best 1946 marks with 6-1 records. Other teams over the 500 mark were the football, soccer, wrestling, fencing, swimming, track, golf and tennis units.

Titles

Five Lehigh athletes won seven individual titles. Edward B. Eich-elberger, Norfolk, Va., captured the 147-pound Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association and NCAA crowns. Joseph M. Gratto, Canton, N. Y., captured the 137-pound Eastern wrestling championship.

Ronald L. Keenhold, Trenton, N. J., won the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association and Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming League three-meter diving championship.

Philip H. Hartung Jr., Maplewood, N. J., was the Middle Atlantic shot put king. The fifth titleholder was David A. Bristol, Middlebury, Conn., who won epee division honors in the Middle Atlantic tournament.

Roth Leads Muhlenberg To Victory

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 19 (AP)—Muhlenberg's Mules ran roughshod over Clemson 88-65 today to win the consolation championship—or fifth place—in the Carrousel basketball classic.

A potent three-man scoring punch provided enough points to win the game for the Pennsylvanians. Center Dennis Roth collected 24, guard Clint Jeffries 22 and guard Bill Smith 20, one more than the Clemson team total.

Muhlenberg moved ahead to stay at 9-8, although Clemson made it a battle through most of the first half. The big break came when, with the count 21-20 and 10 minutes gone, Muhlenberg hit 9 points in a row. The Mules closed out the half with a 46-38 lead.

West Chester Leads Basketball Conference

Millersville Streak Halted At 42 Games

JOHNSTOWN, Dec. 19 — Emil Messikomer, genial veteran coach of 11 years service at West Chester State Teachers College, may get his first STC Conference championship this season. That is, if his proteges can continue their early season's show in which they defeated top-ranking Shippensburg and Millersville.

Messikomer's quintet put an end to Millersville's long winning streak last week and took undisputed lead of the 14-team Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges Basketball Conference. Millersville had won 42 straight conference games before falling at West Chester, 49-43. The Marauders had lost their last game to Shippensburg on Feb. 17, 1953.

With the Millersville champions finally bumped off the perfect state, the race for the STC basketball title is wide open. Not one of the 11 games played thus far this season have been one-sided as in the past and one game went into an extra period as Clarion nipped California, 80-79, in overtime. Two other games were decided by one point with Mansfield nosing out Lock Haven, 80-79, and Cheyney squeezing past Kutztown, 91-90.

Conference action resumes Jan. 5 as all teams are idle during the Christmas Holiday season.

Standings:

West Chester	W.	L.	Rating
Clarion	2	0	250
Indiana	2	0	249
Millersville	1	1	173
ESSTC	1	1	172
Shippensburg	1	1	171
Bloomburg	1	1	170
Cheyney	1	1	125
Lock Haven	0	1	100
California	0	2	104
Kutztown	0	3	75

(Mansfield won one and Slippery Rock lost one; both are ineligible for championship as they do not play minimum of eight conference games.)

Betting At Tracks Over $2 Billion

By The Associated Press
BETTING at the nation's thoroughbred race tracks in 1956 exceeds the two billion dollar mark for the fourth straight year, and the fourth time in the history of the sport, an Associated Press survey showed today.

All records for attendance, wagering, and revenue to the 24 states where parimutuel betting is legalized were smashed as the racing popularity reached new highs. The parimutuel turnover totaled $2,231,528,149, compared with $2,097,009,210 for 1955, or a jump of 6.41 per cent, the unofficial but virtually complete reports from the various state racing commissions disclosed. The biggest betting year prior to 1955 was in 1953, when the total hit $2,064,572,981.

First Time

For the first time attendance passed 30 million customers, with 30,171,322 watching the races this year compared with 29,012,131 in 1955. Revenue to states, which was only $6,024,193 in 1954, boomed to a record $164,418,294, as several states increased their percentage of the tax to go along with the greater attendance at the tracks. This was 9.96 per cent above the 1955 state revenue of $149,528,941.

New York State, which has the biggest tax bite in the country—11 per cent of the 15 per cent take-out—collected $43,473,361 in revenue for 1956. This was more than one quarter of the national total.

Monroe County In Action Today

MONROE County Bowling League will resume play today at Harmon's Recreation, starting at 9:15 p.m. The schedule:
Alleys one and two—Al Besecker's Diner vs. CLU Club.
Alleys three and four—Courtland Restaurant vs. Gem Lunch.
Alleys five and six—Besecker's Diner vs. Johnnie's Inn.

Miami Wins Two Defensive Football Titles; Villanova Toughest In Passing Department

By The Associated Press

MIAMI of Florida won two defensive championships in a college football season of low resistance and Villanova took one. But Georgia Tech captured the minor title that pays off with championships and bowl games.

Final NCAA Service Bureau defense statistics today showed the Tech Engineers on top of the "scoreboard defense" column for the second straight year. Georgia Tech allowed its opponents only 33 points in ten games, an average of 3.3 per game, as compared to 5.1 scored against runnerup Oklahoma and 5.3 against Miami.

Miami, the first team to lead the major colleges in both total defense and defense against rushing in eight years, established new record highs for the champions in both departments.

Yardage

The Hurricanes allowed 106.9 yards a game on the ground and 189.4 overall. The highest previous winning figures were 83.9 in rushing by Michigan State in 1942 and Maryland in 1953, and 181.3 total by Cincinnati in 1953.

This year's figures are all the more remarkable when it is considered that the previous records were made in two-platoon seasons, when there was 10 per cent more actual playing time in a game.

Villanova, 59th in pass defense a year ago, allowed only 35 of 113 opposition passes to be completed for a .310 percentage and gave up only 43.8 yards per game by the air route. But the Wildcats weren't so successful in ground defense and only placed 11th in the overall standings.

Dartmouth was second in pass defense with a 45.3 yards per game yield while Penn State had the low completion percentage of .218.

Oklahoma, the rushing ground gaining and scoring champion on offense, hardly needed much defense. Nevertheless, the Sooners were second in total defense, score and returns of interceptions.

Schoendienst Sets Record For Defensive Play By Second Basemen In National League Grind

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Red Schoendienst set a National League record for second basemen with a .993 fielding average, making only four errors while handling 610 chances for St. Louis and New York. The old record was set by Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn in 1951.

Joe Adcock of Milwaukee dethroned Ted Kluszewski as the top average first baseman in the official statistics released today. Big Ted of Cincinnati had topped the first baseman for five years but was way down the list in 1956. Adcock made only six errors. Close contenders were Stan Musial of St. Louis and Gil Hodges of Brooklyn. Del Crandall, the Milwaukee catcher, also topped the league in fielding at his position with only two errors in 109 games.

No Surprise

The news that Roy McMillan, flashy Cincinnati shortstop, was the best in the league game was no surprise to the fans. McMillan handled almost 100 more chances than any other shortstop and finished with a .975 average, participating in 105 double plays.

Willie (Puddinhead) Jones of the Phillies finished in front among the third basemen for the fourth straight year with a .973 average. Several pitchers went through the season without an error but Tom Poholsky, who handled 47 chances, was rated tops among those who pitched at least 154 innings.

The club fielding championship was a tight race between Brooklyn and Cincinnati with the Dodgers finally winning it, .9812 to .9811. Milwaukee made the most putouts and Pittsburgh committed the most errors, 162. St. Louis was the only team to pull a triple play and they made two. The Cardinals also led in assists, total chances and double plays.

Redskin Denies Quote On Roughness

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Nath Hecker of the Washington Redskins denied today a report quoting him as saying some National Football League teams in the past rewarded the player who "got" Detroit quarterback Bobby Layne.

A Washington newspaper said Hecker related that while he was with the Los Angeles Rams a few years ago the players themselves "put up the money and it went to the man who got Layne."

Stand

"That's not so," Hecker told a reporter later. "Any football team tries to hit the key men hard. But I never said anything about dirty football."

The newspaper account quoted Hecker as saying the "idea was to see that Bobby got hit, but good." He was said to have added: "I know other teams did the same

Lahar Out Of Columbia Consideration

HAMILTON, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—Football Coach Hal Lahar of Columbia University today withdrew himself as a possible successor to Lou Little at Columbia University. In a telegram to Columbia Athletic Director Ralph Furey, Lahar said he was honored with "the interest shown me," but asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

Possibility

Lahar yesterday returned from New York City where he had discussed the possibility of his moving to the Manhattan campus.

Little stepped aside as coach of the Lions after the last football season after lengthy service. A dinner in his honor is scheduled to be conducted tomorrow night in New York City. It has been reported that his successor will be named within the week.

Kenneth Cox

ESSTC Graduate Coaching Wrestling At Fort Ord Post

KENNETH COX, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and now a Specialist Third Class in the Army, has been appointed wrestling coach at Fort Ord, Calif.

The son of Mrs. Susan C. Plummer, 1604 Carlisle St., Bethlehem, Pa., Cox was graduated from both Bethlehem High School and Bethlehem Junior High.

While at ESSTC, Cox was captain of the wrestling team, and lettered in football and track.

Since his entry into the Army he has won the Pacific Coast heavyweight title in Greco-Roman, won All-Army heavyweight title, and placed second in the National YMCA Tournament. He was a finalist in the 1956 Olympic Try-outs at Los Angeles.

Assignment
A graduate of the Army's Clerk-Typist school, he is now assigned to Headquarters Co. of Fort Ord's RFA Regiment. The Regiment is the only unit in the nation organized and staffed specifically for the purpose of training young men who between the ages of 17 and 18½ choose to join the U. S. Army Reserve or National Guard and volunteer for Six Months Active Duty Training rather than serve two years under the Selective Service Act.

Following his release from active duty next Summer, Cox plans on continuing his education to obtain his Master's Degree in Education.

College Presidents
The college presidents are Wilis McD. Tate of Southern Methodist and Wilson H. Elkins of the University of Maryland, who was nominated by Texas. Harvard's choice was Dr. William Barry Wood, All-America quarterback in 1931 who now is vice president of Johns Hopkins University, and Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Also representing the medical profession are James Haley, Colorado; Ralph Dougherty, Pittsburgh; Edward M. Winant, Vermont; and John E. Doyle, West Virginia.

The ministers are Roger W. Blanchard, Boston University, and Clem E. Bininger, Centre. Diplomats on the team are Douglas MacArthur II, Yale, who is leaving the post as counselor of the Department of State to become U. S. ambassador to Japan, and John W. Tuthill, William and Mary senior economic officer at the U.S. Embassy in Paris.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S lighting of the national Christmas tree on the White House lawn will be broadcast tonight at 5:15 on Chs. 6 and 7. Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton will introduce the President, who will make a brief address and then throw the switch lighting the tree.

Dorothy Jarnae, delightful pantomime dancer; Eddie Hodges, 8-year-old singing star; the George Arnold Lee Trio and comedian Joe Jackson will highlight the Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney "Circus Time" show at 8 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7. An added attraction will be the Amia Brothers, acrobats, who are appearing at the Palace Theatre with Judy Garland.

Raymond Massey portrays an elderly, retired physician who is kidnapped through mistaken identity in "Strange Hostage", Christmas presentation of "Climax" on ch. 2 and 10 at 8:30. At the same time on "Dragnet" on ch. 3 and 4 Friday and Smith investigate a kidnapping, when a mother reports that her baby was taken while she was shopping for groceries.

At 9:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4 Tennessee Ernie Ford presents his variety show, with special guests Rin Tin Tin and Lee Anker, who plays Rusty in the Rinky series. Also at 9:30 on ch. 2 and 10 "Playhouse 90" presents Lew Ayres, Nanette Fabray and Tim Hovey in "The Family Nobody Wanted", the story of a Minister and his wife who open their hearts and home to so-called "unadoptables"—children of mixed racial backgrounds who are usually difficult to place with families. The story, based on Rev. and Mrs. Carl Doss' true life experiences, traces the growth of the large family from the first child to the Christmas celebration for an even dozen.

Video Theatre at 10 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4 will present Gordon MacRae in a musical salute to hit songs from famous motion pictures of the last 25 years. Guests will include Shirley Jones and her singer-husband Jack Cassidy; singer-comedian Phil Harris; and Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, who teamed in musicals in the 1930's.

Sports

Amateur boxing at 9 p.m. on ch. 13.
Wrestling from Washington at 9 p.m. on ch. 5.

Premier Refuses To Resign

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 19 — Premier Achille Van Acker's Socialist-Liberal coalition government was defeated in the lower House today but the Premier refused to resign.

The vote was 94-87 with right-wing Social Christians and Communists combining against the government on a bill asking for financial credits pending approval of next year's budget. Van Acker said many of his supporters were absent when the vote was taken and he has the majority to approve the measure.

Split-Toe Sandal Popular

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (P)—The Japanese zori—a sandal with a split toe—made a hit in Australia. Japanese Olympic swimmers wore them and the Aussie want some just like them.

The Hiroshima Rubber Co. is sending off a batch to a Melbourne importer. They're just like those worn here except they're built larger to fit the bigger Aussie foot.

Parents Meet With Principal At Bangor

BANGOR — Seventeen parents, members of the principal's advisory committee of the Bangor Area Joint High School, met this week in the high school with Dr. Trevor Williams, high school principal to discuss areas of educational importance.

Plans were made to urge the high school Parent Teachers Assn. to hold two general meetings within the next several months in which the current topic of "It's Time for Parent Participation in Understanding the School and Its Problems" will be the area for discussion.

Announcement

It was also announced that during the planned meetings of the advisory committee during the next several months the following topic programs will be presented: "Science and Mathematics in Our Secondary Schools" will be presented in January; "How Much Can We Afford to Invest in Our Youth" will be discussed in February taking as the criteria the fact that in suburban Philadelphia they are presently spending an average of $5,400 per pupil to construct new schools; and in the month of March the theme will be, "The Accreditation of Schools, How is a School Evaluated?"

Present at the meeting were: Mrs. J. Zerne Heberling, Mrs. Abraham Sandler, Mrs. Rose Brown and Mrs. J. L. Farace, of Bangor; Mrs. Corrine LaBar and Mrs. Mary Calazzo, East Bangor; Mrs. Mary Sabatino and Mrs. Grace Catino, Roseto; Mrs. J. K. Haddix, Mrs. Mary Ordinski and Claude Batchelor, Upper Mount Bethel Township; Mrs. Nancy Davidson, Mrs. Hazel Meisell, Mrs. Flossie Hoppsetter, Mrs. Sarah Schenck and Mrs. Geraldine Taylor, Lower Mount Bethel Township and Mrs. Arthur Baker of Washington Township.

Services At Pocono Manor

MOUNT POCONO — A Christmas Eve service will be conducted Monday night in Pocono Manor auditorium by the parishioners of Mount Pocono Trinity Episcopal Church.

Rev. F. Randall Williams, director of chaplaincy services of the Episcopal Diocese of Ohio, will be in charge.

Concert

The service will start at 11 p. m. and include a concert of sacred music. This will be followed by the Episcopal Christmas Eve Holy Communion service.

Those of other faiths who may desire are invited to participate, church leaders said.

Effort

Mrs. Walter Murphy

THE ANNUAL Christmas program at Effort Methodist Church was held Sunday night with a large attendance. Other churches of Tannersville Circuit will hold their exercises as follows: Wesley Chapel, Sunday morning, Dec. 23; Tannersville, Dec. 23, 7:30 p. m.; Redders, Dec. 24, 7:45 p. m.; McMichael's, Dec. 30, 7:45 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hannon and sons, Stanley and James, visited Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cuthbertson, of Easton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Getz, of Albrightsville, are patients in Gnaden Huetten Hospital, Lehigh-ton.

Mrs. Lloyd Bonser was discharged from Lehigh-ton Hospital this week.

Weekend guests of Mrs. Ida Murphy were Mr. and Mrs. Levene Robacker and daughter, Reta, of Newfoundland; Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Price and daughter, Barbara; Mrs. Karl Price and Mrs. Albert Hippler, of Cresco, and Mrs. Allen Smith.

Mrs. Anna Chestnutwood, of Salix, is spending the holidays visiting friends and relatives in Effort and Stroudsburg.

Robert George and daughter, Patricia, and Miss Mildred Deitch, of Kresgeville; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sheller, Mr. and Mrs. William Knecht, Mrs. Frank Hawk and daughter, Nadine; Mrs. Victor Murphy, Mrs. Evelyn Hawk, and Floyd Kunkle called on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kunkle and daughter, Amy, recently.

Mrs. Leroy J. Shupp and Mrs. Norman Brong transacted business in Stroudsburg on Friday.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rinker were Mr. and Mrs. Wally Althouse, of Wind Gap; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mohrey and son, Donald of Northampton; Mr. and Mrs. Elan Grey and family, of Delaware Water Gap; Rev. and Mrs. LeRoy Bernard.

Church Lists Candlelight Services

BANGOR — The annual Christmas candlelight service will be held at the Bangor Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 7:30 p. m. It was announced by the Rev. Roland Catterall, pastor of the church. Music will feature the service, with readings from the various phases of the Christmas Story.

Special music will be presented by the Senior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Elwood Mitchell and the Junior Choir directed by Mrs. Forrester Edwards. The Session announced that the offerings received at the service will be contributed to the Hungarian Relief through the Church World Service Organization.

Special Scene

A special scene depicting the Nativity is being erected in the front of the church this year by the Young Married Couples Club. It was placed in position and floodlighted last night. This same club will decorate the interior of the church on Saturday following the annual covered dish supper of the group set for 6:30 p. m.

Two other activities during the week also were listed. Last night following rehearsal, members of the Junior Choir traveled around the community on their annual Christmas carolling venture. Tonight the annual Christmas party for the children of the church school will be held in the social rooms starting at 6:30.

Chairmen Report To Knights

MEMBERS OF the Father Butler Council, Knights of Columbus held their monthly meeting on Monday night.

Edward Yeast, co-chairman of the Six Point Program, introduced the following activity chairmen who outlined their planned activity for the coming month:

Membership chairman Albert Zatevny announced that a first degree is being planned for February and urged all council members to begin contacting non-members who are eligible to become members.

Fraternity Activity chairman Anthony Archer is busy setting up plans for a Blood Mobile Visit at St. Matthew's School Auditorium on Feb. 26. A goal of 200 pints of blood is being set. All council members will be called on to participate in this endeavor, either as a donor or as a solicitor and drivers for the affair.

Color Film

Catholic Activity chairman Joseph Fleming is securing color films on various religious subjects. These films will be shown to council members and also to the school children at St. Matthew's School. The Youth activity will cooperate in this undertaking.

Youth Activity is sponsoring the reactivated Boy Scout Troop 83. Edward Torzillo and Oliver Weber are engaged with this work and will call upon members from time to time for help in transportation and other matters.

Council Activity chairman Michael LaPenna reported results on the recent fund raising drive conducted by his group and thanked all activity chairmen and members for their cooperation in making it a success. The Council Activity group is also working on plans for a dance which will be held on Saturday, Jan. 26th.

Public relations chairman has announced plans for a Family Holy Hour for all members of St. Matthew's Parish and surrounding parishes. The affair will be held on Sunday, Jan. 27 as part of the regular Sunday devotions. Further announcements will be made on this affair as arrangements are completed.

Business Meeting

Following the regular business meeting the Council was entertained by a visit from Santa Claus. Members were treated to a hilarious half hour during which novelty Christmas gifts were given out to various members. Andy LeBar served as the "gentleman with the long white beard."

Joseph Dane was in charge of the entertainment. Following the entertainment the more than sixty members present resounded with a lengthy applause.

William Higgins led the group in singing Christmas carols and other favorite songs.

Following the meeting refreshments were served. A large turnout of members was on hand.

Council Chaplain Rev. Father John Euseff closed the meeting with a prayer and extended his blessing on all present for a peaceful and holy Christmas and New Year.

Man Thrives On Trouble

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19 (AP)—A 26-year-old airline official said today he was the first man to travel cross-country on feeder airlines.

It took eight days for James Beck of Houston, Tex. interline agency manager for Trans Texas Airways, to complete the trip from Los Angeles to Newark without using any transcontinental lines.

Effort

Jimmy Weiss attended classes at Chestnut Hill school on Monday after a week's absence on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Feller, of Acquashicola; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Christman, of Gilbert, visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Feller on Sunday.

Columbus discovered the Virgin Islands on his second voyage to the New World.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR THURSDAY, DEC. 20, 1956
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Talk. Thinking is always advised, but let it evolve into sound action. Aspects strong for strong action and right thinking today. Don't be found wanting.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Though your planet Venus is not notably aspected today, it will be in a more auspicious position tomorrow, so take advantage of all worthwhile opportunities. Don't spread rumors.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—A good outlook for all endeavors that are given close, efficient and intelligent handling. Don't hesitate to ask questions, assistance if needed. Thoroughness always pays.
June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—Your Moon in fine configuration today. You can assist others as well as progress notably yourself if you follow logical procedures and use your initiative.
July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—Improving over the past couple of days, your vibrations will culminate in a strongly favorable aspect tomorrow. This should find you working to achieve steadily, not sporadically, and with confidence, plus alertness.
August 22 to September 21 (Virgo)—How you start this day will have much bearing upon the results you will achieve. The day needs a push from you. Avoid severity, and don't force your opinions on others.
September 22 to October 21 (Libra)—An "off" period that could be good or troublesome depending on your own fibers to be unfeeling or disliking but these are among the day's temptations.
October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Your planet now stresses a need for self-control, kindly consideration of others, including those you don't particularly like to help or like. Broaden your perspective by doing more than required.
November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Wasted time is never regained. You only have to work harder and regret it. Don't live on past laurels or may be a temptation now. Good advice, don't lower standards.
December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Activities unrelated to your regular work and duties may run into snags. Avoid emotional upheavals or power. Responsibilities can be handled more quickly and with less strain if you aren't easily upset.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Today and the 20th are the only two remaining days of 1956 on which your planet Uranus exerts special cautionary restrictions. Believe in your instincts, protect them, and live with both uppermost. Be careful.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Remember the old saying, "Between the devil and the deep sea." You may now experience such contradictory feelings, but your intelligent mind can cope with them. Think, act, believe.
COI BORN TODAY are a Sagittarius Capricorn couple, born at the change of Signs. You do not waste words or action; are direct, practical, able in a well-rounded way. You like good conversation and high minded associates. You have little patience with anything which is not honorable, can often conquer what others consider impossible. Do not let pride get the better of you or let the lucrative and dependable in you be wasted through lack of coordination and consistency of effort. Aim for the top range of the ladder. Birthdate of: Leopold von Ranke, German historian.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Numerical hints designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name.

 ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY RECORD

It costs each American only 42 pennies
 a year for the United Nations—
 World War II cost each American almost 1000 times that much a year!

This is the 11th Anniversary of the UN—the 11th Anniversary of man's first completely organized search for peace

Nobody has ever said that he was sure the United Nations will prevent a war.

But then, nobody ever said he was sure a cure for cancer could be found.

The fight for a cure for war must go on, just as the fight for a cure for cancer must go on.

The United Nations is now 11 years old. With each passing year it has gained the support of more and more people. In fact, a recent survey shows that only 7% of the American people are for quitting the United Nations. The rest believe, and rightfully so, that we can never find lasting peace unless we look for it... unless we work for it.

Above, you counted 42 pennies. That's what the UN costs each American per year. Look at just a few of the things that your 42¢ is buying.

1. The UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) has helped organize health campaigns that examined 400,000,000 children in 95 countries, and vaccinated 75,000,000 children against tuberculosis.
2. Membership in the ten Specialized Agencies is helping to provide more food, better health and education for millions of people, and to bring about world cooperation on such matters as aviation, communications, weather, and the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

3. The UN has helped to produce peaceful settlements in Iran, Indonesia, Kashmir and Palestine, any one of which could have led to World War III.
4. The United Nations provides technical assistance to 78 countries. It works to eliminate sickness, irrigate deserts, and increase food production, thereby taking constructive action for peace.
5. The United Nations is the greatest loud-speaker in the world. We and other free nations can use this loud-speaker constantly, to tell the truth, to show up and probe Communist fallacies, and ultimately help develop a common worldwide sense of justice, the only basis for true and enduring peace.

By attacking some of the underlying causes of war—hunger, poverty and disease—the United Nations is helping prevent war. At every opportunity, support the United Nations. You support it best by knowing what it's doing—and by letting others know what it's doing. A better understanding of the United Nations means a better chance of peace for the world!

Mount Pocono Rotary Holds Yule Party

SCOTRUN—Mount Pocono Rotary Club held its annual Christmas party last Saturday at Rotarian Eric Danisch's resort, Brookdale-on-the-Lake with more than 70 in attendance, including Rotarians and their wives.

The spirit of the holiday season was emphasized by attractive Christmas decorations in the main dining room. Entertainment was provided by a barber shop quartette, consisting of the following Rotarians: Erich Danisch, Richard Mackoud, Dr. Walter Schneider and Harry Taylor. They were accompanied by Mrs. John F. O'Neill.

Group Singing

Group singing led by Dr. Walter Schneider included many Christmas carols and the Rotary-Annes were recipients of colorful holiday corsages and special Christmas gifts.

Following an excellent Christmas dinner, an orchestra was provided for dancing mingled with special vocal selections by Eric Danisch.

Death Rate High

BONN, Dec. 19 (AP)—Thirteen thousand persons were killed this year in traffic accidents in West Germany (pop. about 50 million), says the Triffl Ministry. Another 365,000 persons were injured.

Prices Drift Off Sluggishly As Volume Drops On Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Prices drifted off sluggishly in the stock market today as volume dropped below the two-million-share level for the first time since Nov. 23.

Pivotal issues were down fractions to around a point or so. A few of the key stocks clung to narrow gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 60 cents to $179.80. With the industrials down 80 cents, the rails down $1.00 and the utilities down 10 cents.

The market again was broader than usual with 1,212 issues traded, reflecting the switching of stocks in many portfolios. Losses outnumbered gains by 584 to 344.

New Lows

There were 58 new lows for the year and 17 new highs.

Of the 15 most active stocks, there was an even split of six apiece between gainers and losers while three were unchanged.

Detroit Steel again headed the most active list, continuing its reaction with a loss of 1 1/2 at 22 1/2 on 35,800 shares.

Fractional losses were taken by

Chrysler, General Motors, Johns-Manville, Sinclair, American Telephone, Anaconda and Union Carbide.

Small gains were made by Goodrich, Consolidated Edison and Loew's.

The trend was lower on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds declined. U. S. government bonds rebounded in moderate trading.

Beakleyville Baptist Church To Present Annual Program

YOUNG PEOPLE of the Beakleyville Baptist Church will present their annual Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 23, at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Characters

The program will consist of recitations by members of the Beginners and Primary classes of the Sunday School, as well as the singing of the traditional Christmas carols. The Young People will present a three-act play entitled "The Shining Star". The play portrays the arrival of Mary and Joseph at the inn in Bethlehem, and the birth of the Christ.

The characters in the play and those playing each part are as follows: Mary played by Wanda Smith, Joseph played by Robert Posten, Anna played by Carolyn Bitterman, Nathan by Robert Shamp, two men played by John Carman and Donald Shamp, a widow played by Margie Bitterman, three small children played by Ann Stettler, Kathey Shafer, and Nancy Bitterman, Esther played by Anna Smith, Deborah played by Mary Shamp, the innkeeper played by Rev. Spriggs, shepherds played by Grant Terrill, Donald Shamp and Anna Smith, wise men played by James Terrill, Dave Terrill, and Mary Shamp, attendants played by Patsy Halterman and Margaret Bitterman, and the angel played by Nancy Bitterman.

Directing the play will be Mrs. Hazel Shamp, while Mrs. Avora Terrill is in charge of the music. Handling the lights and curtains will be Bob Richards and Gordon Bitterman. The announcer for the program will be Dorothy Alexander.

At the conclusion of the program, all those who so desire may accompany the Young People as they go out Christmas caroling through the streets of town and outlying sections.
